

The National Innovation Office organized the INNOTRENDS HUNGARY 2013 conference and trade show on 12-13th June 2013.

In the plenary session of the international conference decision- and policy-makers of Hungary and the European Union, leaders of companies engaged in significant innovation activities, representatives of prestigious scientific workshops summarized the trends of the European innovation policy, the evolving casemaps of the new financial-planning period, the social reception of the recently adopted Hungarian National RDI Strategy, as well as the challenges for the large enterprises operating in knowledge-intensive industries.

Companies active in the Hungarian RDI were expected to the trade show. The event provided opportunity for the participants to build professional relationships and to meet credit market and venture capital investors personally. By favour of the conference the participants could get first hand information on the innovation trends in Hungary and in the European Union.

BME EMT presented CVN project at the trade show.
